The Field Trial Hall of Fame Induction Ceremony held here in Grand Junction in September of 1993 was most impressive and I believe most meaningful to all those participating. "The Field Trial Hall of Fame concept" of our dog world is important to those who have done so much to give more credibility to our sport. I believe we can give more and better recognition and appreciation to those distinguished people and the outstanding dogs elected to the Field Trial Hall of Fame if we make the effort and officially set aside the time to do so. The first such induction ceremony stands as a monument of success in this recognition process.

A date has been selected for the Second Annual Field Trial Hall of Fame Induction Ceremony – Saturday, September 23, 1994 – here in the Field Trial Hall of Fame/National Bird Dog Museum in Grand Junction Tennessee.

I hope that all bird dog breeds who have established a Field Trial Hall of Fame selection process will join in and give adequate recognition to those dogs and people selected to the Field Trial Hall of Fame. Further, I hope and recommend that the selection procedures be conducted in a timely manner to conform with the above date. I believe that with time and a sincere effort by each breed organization a common day and place can be used to lend more prestige to the whole "Field Trial Hall of Fame concept". I hope you will arrange to be present here assisting and participating with the induction of the Brittannies and their supporters into the Field Trial Hall of Fame.
